In addition to the information stated below, complete information can be found on line at: <http://www.health.gatech.edu/topics/meningitis.htm>.

Meningococcal disease is a contagious, but largely preventable infection of the spinal cord fluid and the fluid that surrounds the brain. Meningococcal disease is a serious condition that can lead to death within only a few hours of onset; one in ten cases is fatal, and one in seven survivors of the disease is left with severe disabilities, such as the loss of a limb, mental retardation, paralysis, deafness or seizures. Scientific evidence suggests that college students living in dormitory facilities are at a moderately increased risk of contracting meningococcal disease and immunization against meningococcal disease will decrease the risk of the disease. Therefore, by electronic signature, the Student acknowledges that he/she has received the information about meningococcal disease and is aware of the issues and concerns about this illness, and indicates that he/she has either (a) received a meningococcal vaccination or (b) reviewed the information above and online at: <http://www.health.gatech.edu/topics/meningitis.htm>.

It is the responsibility of each participant to engage only in those activities and programs for which he/she has the prerequisite skills, qualifications, preparation and training. The Institute does not warrant or guarantee in any respect the competency or mental or physical condition of any trip leader, vehicle driver, instructor, or individual participant in any athletic, recreational, adventure program or workshop.
